Subject: RE: LBHI v. JPMorgan

Karen,

I am writing to confirm our conversation today regarding requests that the Committee and LBHI have made for documents relating to JPMorgan's disposition of collateral, and to respond to your letter of this afternoon.

Specifically, we reiterate our request for the following information relating to each sale of collateral:

- the cusip number
- the purchasing party
- the date sold
- the bids solicited
- the bids received, including "passes"
- the price at which the collateral was sold
- if sold to JPMorgan, the price at which the collateral was resold, if resold within one month of being purchased

On our call today, you represented that you had already produced all information that "JPMorgan tracked" related to its collateral disposition. We represented that this information was not available for many, if not a majority, of the securities. We asked whether this information was available electronically in JPMorgan's computer files. You stated that it would be burdensome to provide such information, but would take the request under advisement.

While we request this information for all counterparties, we may be willing to limit our request to only those securities "sold" to JPMorgan or any of its subsidiaries or affiliates (or any parties that JPMorgan asserts are affiliates of JPMorgan) if this would substantially reduce the burden on JPMorgan.

Please let us know by the end of this week whether JPMorgan will undertake to collect the relevant information so that we can seek intervention of the Court if necessary.

Best regards,

Matt
